A boy was teaching girl arithmetic, he said it was his mission. He kissed her once; he kissed her twice and said; "Now that's addition." In silent satisfaction, she sweetly gave the kisses back and said; "Now that's subtraction." Then he kissed her; she kissed him, without an explanation. And both together smiled and said, "That's multiplication." Then her Dad appeared upon the scene and made a quick decision. He kicked that boy three blocks away and said, "That's long division!"

I recently saw a distraught young lady weeping beside her car. Do you need some help?" I asked. She replied, "I knew I should have replaced the battery to this remote door unlocker.

Now I can't get into my car.

"Do you think they (pointing to a distant convenient store) would have a battery to fit this?"

"Hmmm, I dunno. Do you have an alarm too?" I asked. "No, just this remote thingy," she answered, handing it and the car keys to me.

As I took the key and manually unlocked the door, I replied,

"Why don't you drive over there and check about the batteries.

It's a long walk.

My neighbor works in the operations department in the central office of a large bank. Employees in the field call him when they have problems with their computers.

One night he got a call from a woman in one of the branch banks who had this question:

"I've got smoke coming from the back of my terminal. Do you guys have a fire downtown?"

A boss asked his employee, "Why were you trying to go over my head for a raise?"

The employee denied it. "I did no such thing."

The boss proved his point. "You were praying for a raise weren't you?"

Did You Know

Snow Blindness occurs when direct and reflected sun glare are too bright for the eyes. Snowmobiling with out good quality, UV-protected sunglasses can cause permanent eye damage.

I was nervous the night my husband and I brought our three young sons to an upscale restaurant for the first time. My husband ordered a bottle of wine with the meal. When the server brought it, our children became quiet as she began the ritual uncorking. She poured a small amount for my husband to taste, and then our six-year-old piped up, "Dad usually drinks a lot more than that!"

A string walks into bar and asks for a rum and cola. The bartender says, "Sorry, there's no strings allowed in here." So the string goes into the bathroom and ties himself into a knot and frays himself at the ends.

He walks back out, and asks again for a rum and cola. The bartender asks, "Were you not just the string that walked in here?"

"Nope!" he says. "I'm a frayed knot!"

Two kids went into their parent's bathroom and noticed the weigh scale in the corner.

"Whatever you do," cautioned one youngster to the other.

"Don't step on it!"

"Why not," asked the sibling?

"Because every time mom does, she lets out an awful scream!"

"May I see you pretty soon?" the man asked before leaving his lover.

"Why?" she replied in a hurt tone. "Don't you think I'm pretty now?"

Pam was a really good mom. When her children were growing up, her one son gave her more "stop and count to 10" periods.

Once, after her small son fell into the pond and came home with his good school clothes, dripping wet, the exasperated Pam sent him to his room, while she washed and dried his clothes.

A little later, Pam heard a commotion in the back yard. She called out "Are you out there wetting your pants again?"

There was dead silence for a moment. Then a deep, masculine voice answered meekly, "No, ma'am, I'm just reading the meter."

An honest seven-year-old admitted calmly to her parents that Billy Brown had kissed her after class.

"How did that happen?" gasped her mother.

"It wasn't easy," admitted the young lady, "but Cathy, Rose, and Alicia helped me catch him."

One day, President Clinton called the White House interior decorator into the Oval Office. He was furious and said, "Chelsea is very upset because she thinks she has the ugliest room in the entire White House. I want something done about it immediately!"

"Yes, sir, Mr. President," the interior decorator replied. "I'll have those mirrors removed right away."

There were three women, a blonde, a red head, and a brunette who were trying to break the world record for fastest time to swim across the English Channel doing only the breaststroke. The blonde shows up on the other side 48 hours later.

"Congratulations!" everyone shouts. 2 hours after the blonde shows up, the red head appears. "Good try" everyone shouts to her. Two weeks later, the brunette shows up. When everyone asked her what happened, she replied, "I don't mean to sound like a poor sport, but I think the other two women were using their arms."

When I was walking across a bridge, I saw a boat crowded with people. But there wasn't a single person on the boat. How could this be?

President Clinton decided to buy a puppy as a present for Hillary. He snuck the puppy under his coat into the White House and as he was walking down one of the halls he comes upon Al Gore. Clinton could not hold back his joy and shared his surprise with the Vice President.

"Look what I got for Hillary!" exclaims Clinton, holding up the puppy.

Al Gore stares for a moment, then his eyes brighten up as he says, "Nice trade, sir!"

His teacher had a kitten to give away, and my eight-year-old son needed my permission to put his name in a hat for a draw to win the animal. I thought his chances, with 32 children in the class, were slim.

The next day he came home all excited and declared he had won the kitten. I remarked how lucky he was.

"Not really," he said. "I was the only one with permission to put my name in the hat."

Four high school boys afflicted with spring fever skipped morning classes. After lunch they reported to the teacher that they had a flat tire. Much to their relief she smiled and said: "Well, you missed a test today so take seats apart from one another and take out a piece of paper." Still smiling, she waited for them to sit down. Then she said: "First Question: Which tire was flat?"

A desperate young mother had two incorrigible boys. Having exhausted all suggestions for controlling the little hellions, she tried one last approach: she took them to the meanest preacher in town for a lecture. First the older boy was admitted into the stern minister's study. Glaring at the boy from behind the desk, the preacher waited a few moments, then challenged the boy: "Young man, where is God?" The boy was stunned to silence. The preacher rose part way out of his chair and repeated the question: "I asked you, Where Is God?" The boy began to quake with dread .... this was no ordinary lecture for being bad! Stepping around from behind the desk, the impassioned preacher now shouted his question, "WHERE IS GOD!?" At this, the boy leaped from his chair and bolted out the door, running headlong into his little brother. "What's wrong? What's the matter?" his brother asked. "It's awful! The church has LOST GOD and they're BLAMING US!"

A young boy refused to do his homework, and his father was trying to convince him to do it. He said to his son: "When Abe Lincoln was your age, he was studying books by the light of the fireplace." The son replied: "Well, when Lincoln was your age, he was President!"
